

Jan Smith and her husband have lived in Lancelin for 20 years or so and in that time Jan has devoted a large part of her energies to doing Community Service.

St. John's Ambulance relies on volunteers and Jan started with the service 26 years ago as an attendant. For the past 15 years she has served as Secretary of the Lancelin Branch.

This role has demanded a considerable amount of Jan's time and she has ensured that the Lancelin Branch has an ambulance service that is equal to any.

The "Coastal Courier" has enjoyed Jan's attention for 10 years. She is the Editor of the local paper which is published monthly. The publication is an important tool for the community to be informed and involved in community events and to enable businesses and groups to advertise their services.

The paper is sold for a small fee and the profits are returned to local not for profit community groups.

The CWA has not escaped Jan's attention either. Everybody in the country knows the value of this iconic group and their contributions to rural life. Jan has served, at different times, as a committee member of the Lancelin Branch.

Lancelin Lions Club is very proud to have been able to nominate this lady.
